Highlights

Canada Day

Canada Day is always one of the most active days of the year in West Guiford and this year was no exception. The festivities provided a good amount of friendly competition and camaradery. Please see page 17.

Breanna

Breanna Barras is a very special little girl, thanks to the love and attention she gets from her mother and relatives. Since she was just three months old, Breanna has continually fooled the doctors with her will to live. Please see page 6.

Evicted

After last weekend's cross burning, neo-Nazi John Beattie has been served an eviction notice. Please see page 14.

Kayaks

The competition was more fierce than ever at the Minden Wild Water Preserve during the World Cup races on July 2. For results from this spectacular event, please see page 15.

School funds

The Haliburton County Board of Education wants its share of provincial dollars and it has established a committee to make sure the board gets what it deserves. Please see page 7.

The Kinsmen's annual truck pull competition delighted spectators at the Minden Fairgrounds on Sunday July 2. Truckers from all over the area competed to see who's rig could pull the weighted sled the farthest. Shown above, Shy Boy makes a valiant try but is forced to abandon the effort as black smoke belches from the stacks.

Board allows shorts again at HHSS

by Jay Kerr Wilson

When classes resume at the high school this September, students will be allowed to wear uniform shorts on warm days.

The Board of Education has granted a request by the Student Activity Council to allow shorts to be worn until Thanksgiving on a trial basis. Up to now, shorts have been forbidden under the school's dress code as being inappropriate attire.

The student council's secretary, Jeff Stamp, and staff advisor Dave Mowat attended last Tuesday's council meeting to try and convince the trustees to relax the regulations.

Stamp showed the trustees an example of the kind of shorts that will be allowed. They are knee-length, brightly coloured and made of cotton, with a school crest printed on the left leg. Stamp said that students will only be allowed to wear the shorts supplied by the students' council.

"Clothing is a good way to promote school spirit," said Stamp. "It makes the student body unified and presentable."

The board has experimented with allowing shorts at the high school in the past but each time the practice was disallowed because of abuses of the privilege. The common complaint was that the shorts became more revealing and less appropriate.

The student council's

Hospital gets warning

The Minden Hospital may face a cutback in services if staff and doctors can't find a way to make better use of the facilities.

The Times has obtained a copy of a memo sent to Minden Hospital doctors from Dr. Marshall Trossman, the Medical Director and Chief of Staff of Saint Joseph's General Hospital in Peterborough.

In the memo, dated June 29, Trossman says Minden Hospital is in an "acute situation" because of a severe shortage of staff and serious budgetary constraints. He describes the financial situation of the Minden Hospital as "precarious" and says that in the first two months of the current fiscal year the hospital is $20,000 over budget.

"If the above conditions continue to exist we may well be forced to look at the possibility of reduction of

School won't go year round: Baker

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Haliburton students are not likely to see an end to their traditional two-month summer vacation, says the county's director of education.

Last Tuesday, a provincial education committee suggested that school boards that wish to offer year-round classes should be allowed to do so, but Stuart Baker, Haliburton's director of education says having classes in the summer months isn't a good idea for Haliburton County.

"It wouldn't serve the community or the students," says Baker. He says because local students provide a large part of the service-industry labour force during the summer tourist season, running classes during July and August would compound the labour shortage during those months and deny students a summer income.

Baker points out that not too long ago the province was encouraging school boards to schedule traditional school calendars to help avoid some of the confusion that occurred when different boards took different March breaks. He sees this new recommendation as somewhat of a reversal.

The director doesn't rule out the possibility that the Haliburton County Board of Education may want to exercise some flexibility with regards to the rest of the school year.

Board may use a flexible schedule

Another factor which would discourage the board from operating during the summer months is the costs involved. Baker says if air conditioning was required in the county's schools to accommodate students during the warmest months of the year, it would end up costing local ratepayers a significant amount of money.

Ontario's Minister of Education, Chris Ward, has thrown his support behind the 12-month school year and says no changes to the education act would be required. Under the proposal, schools would offer courses for eight weeks at a time with short breaks between each session.

Instead of having the majority of holidays occurring in the summer, they would be spread out over the course of the 12 months.

School boards in Muskoka, Durham Region and St. Catharines have shown interest in trying the 12-month school year on a trial basis.

The provincial committee identified several benefits that would result from the introduction of year-round school. They include students enrolled in special education classes who tend to lose some of what they learn during the summer break, more efficient use of school buildings and resources and reducing the number of drop-outs by providing several re-entry points during the course of a year.

Abuse of services a concern

services," the memo says. "This may include the closure of inpatient beds, or the consideration of reduction of outpatient procedures."

According to the letter, the administration at Saint Joseph's hopes to avoid any cutbacks, but wishes to make the medical staff aware of the situation.

Trossman is asking the staff at Minden Hospital to co-operate by ensuring the "facilities of the Minden Hospital are used appropriately. This includes serious consideration of the necessity for admission to an inpatient bed or, alternatively, the transfer of a patient to another facility."

Doctors who work at the hospital are being asked not to "abuse the services of the Emergency Room for treatment of office-based patients. For example, changes of dressings, removal of sutures or follow-up visits of patients previously seen that are of an elective nature should not be referred to the emergency room but integrated into the office practice if at all possible."

In a telephone interview from his home in Peterborough, Trossman said the problems being experienced by the Minden Hospital are representative of the situation in health care facilities across the province.

He says the nature of any cutbacks, or when they might take place, is up to the Board of Directors of Saint Joseph's. Because the administration makes its plans a year at a time, Trossman says most likely no changes will be made until the next fiscal year, which starts in April 1989.

Trossman says his recommendations about monitoring abuse of the hospital's outpatient and emergency facilities are not in response to a specific problem at Minden Hospital. He says he is suggesting problems which occur all over the province and which doctors in Minden may want to consider.

When suggesting that some patients could be moved to hospitals in Lindsay or Peterborough, Trossman says he is not dictating to doctors how to treat their patients. The decision about which patients should be moved will still be up to the individual physician, he says.

Hospital trustee resigns

Bill Kulas has resigned as Minden's representative on the St. Joseph's Hospital Board. The board over-see the operation of the Minden and Haliburton Hospitals as well as St. Joseph's Hospital in Peterborough.

The trustee cited the pressure of family responsibilities, career and business pursuits as reasons for not wishing to continue as a board member. He has served for two years. Prior to being appointed to the board, he was the Minden area chairman for the fundraising effort for the extended care addition to the Haliburton Hospital.

"It has been a fantastic three years since first being involved with the fundraising drive for the new chronic care wing in Haliburton under the chairmanship of Barb Dawson," Kulas stated in his letter. However, he noted, "The position of trustee is a very important one and I feel I am not devoting the necessary time to it."

Kulas recently chaired an ad hoc committee of the hospital board, formed to look into health services in the Minden area. That committee was forced to cease operations after no source of funding could be found to carry out the study deemed necessary.

The letter of resignation was considered at the June 27 meeting of the Hospital Board and accepted with regret. Board Chairman Helen Wilcox thanked Mr. Kulas for his contribution to health care.

The board, which has gone into summer recess, has not selected a replacement.

Funding

The Haliburton County Board of Education's newly-formed committee to lobby the province for the funding it needs to operate properly has a big job ahead, but it's a task that must be accomplished.

We've made due now for a full school year with young students attending classes in a refurbished grocery store. And although the lease runs out in another two years, there is still no sign that the Ministry of Education will come good with the money to put the children into a real school.

The school board is to be lauded for the aggressive stance it is now taking to convince the ministry that this area deserves its share of the provincial education budget. Recently, the board established a committee with the sole function of collecting data to back up the board's claim that this county is being underfunded in comparison to the larger school boards in the province. If the committee is successful in its mission, the much-needed additions to Archie Stouffer Elementary School and to J.D. Hodgson Elementary School might just take shape before the present kindergarten students graduate from the high school. The burden of education costs that area residents are now carrying through their municipal taxes could also be eased.

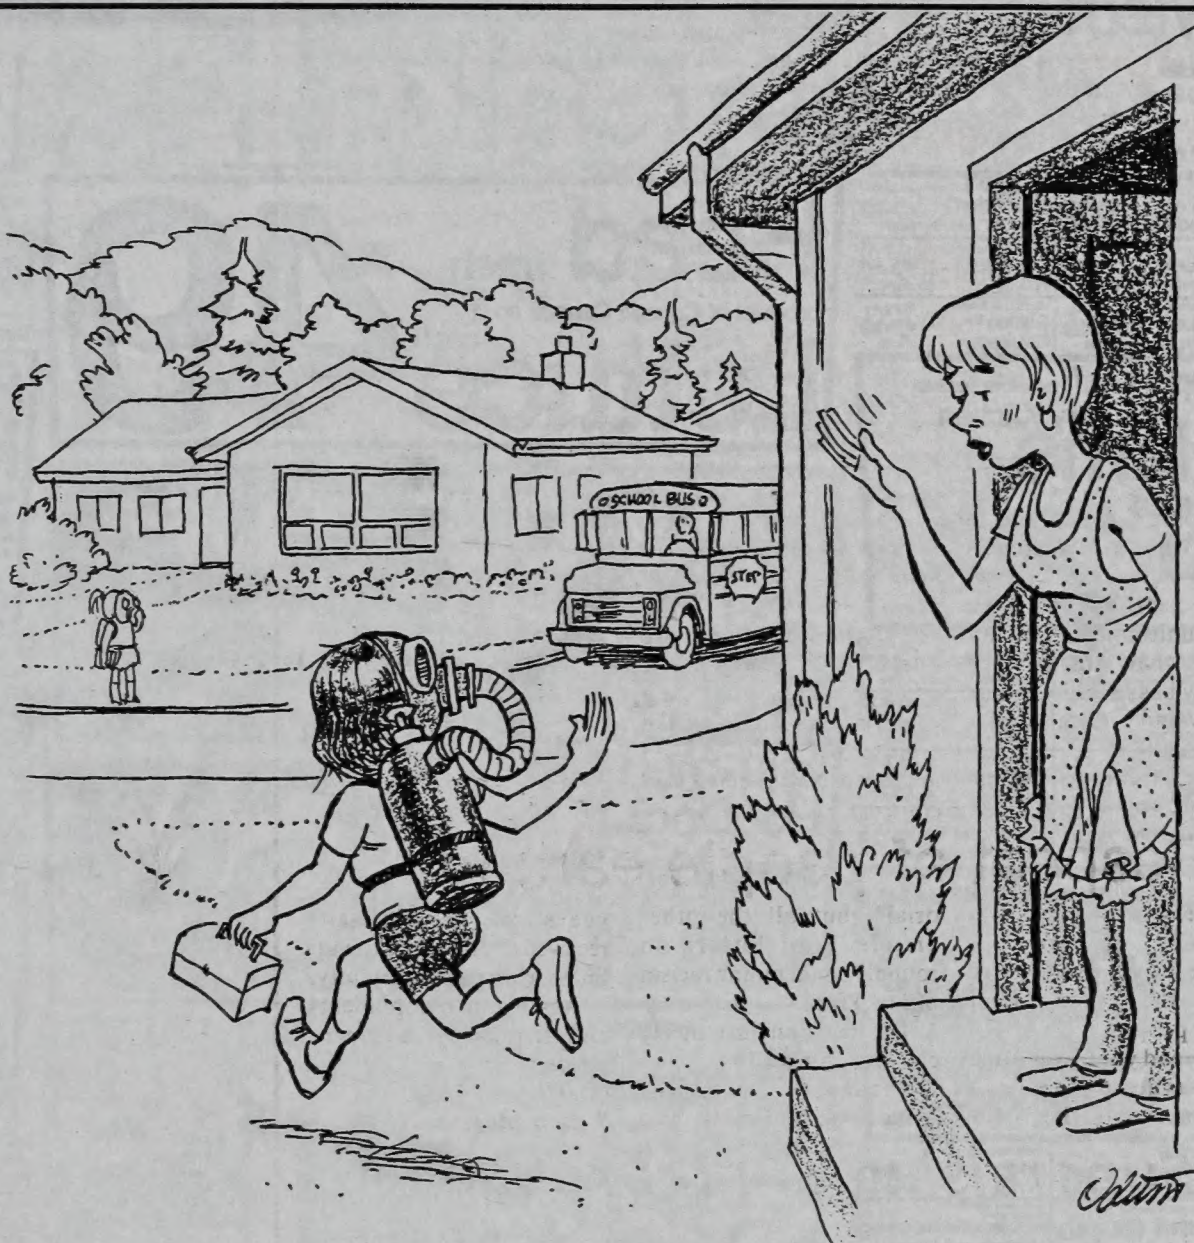

Once the board's new committee has compiled enough background information, it will be presenting its case to the ministry. The only question is whether or not the ministry is willing to listen.

Tact and manners

Our hats are off to the Minden OPP officers who were assigned to the unpleasant task of patrolling the area around the white supremacist rally on the July 1 weekend.

These officers succeeded in keeping the lid on a potentially explosive situation. They accomplished this, not with a show of force, but with tact and manners.

On several occasions during the evening, area residents engaged in arguments with the skinhead guards at the rally. The officers astutely interrupted these encounters and gently suggested that these people move along. As a result, there was no physical violence to speak of erupting at this event.

"SEE YOU LATER, MOM - OXYGEN SUPPLY PERMITTING."

Handbags for men the coming trend

I don't know Mister Taj Kassam of Edmonton from Mister Adam of Eden but we share a vision, Taj and I. We both see a future full of purse-carrying men.

Mind you, Mister Kassam has a vested interest in the vision -- he's owner of an Edmonton store called The Leather Place. One of his main product lines is a small leather carry-all with a shoulder strap designed to do the job of a wallet and pockets and suitable for either sex. It's a purse, but Mister Kassam doesn't call it that because most men would not feel comfortable walking into a store and saying "I'd like to buy a purse, please." Men would never buy perfume for themselves either -- but they line up to buy "men's fragrances" by the barrel. Ditto with the "man's purse" concept. Solution: Don't call it a purse; call it a "unisex bag."

Mister Kassam admits that so far, the male demand for his unisex bags in the macho burg of Edmonton has been distinctly underwhelming, but he wasn't expecting doorcrashers anyway. "In Alberta, you don't see men carrying them around much," he says. "It's a real no-no here." But Taj Kassam has the black 'n white

by Arthur Black

patience of a philosopher. He's willing to wait because he thinks the tide is about to turn.

What's going to make men more amenable to the idea of carrying a pu-- all right, a unisex bag? Simple, according to Mister Kassam.

The Loonie.

Taj Kassam thinks the brassy, eleven-sided dollar coins now popping up in cash registers across the country are eventually going to convince men that carrying a bag is a reasonable idea.

He has a point. Good old greenbacks, even as I type these words, are being sucked out of circulation all over Canada. Every dollar bill that returns to Ottawa is snagged, shredded and replaced by a Loonie. Pretty soon the change that comes back from just about anything you purchase is going to include one or two dollar coins.

Pretty soon you're going to have very lumpy pockets.

Well, you see Taj Kassam's theory, can't you? He figures men aren't going to want to walk around with their pants pockets looking like squirrel cheeks. They're going to cast around looking for some new fashionable method of toting about their disposable income.

Taj Kassam hopes they're walking by his store at that moment so that he can sell them a unisex bag. "It won't be dramatic, it'll be gradual" he says. And he thinks it'll start with young executives between 25 and 30. "They're more adapted to change than other age groups."

Well, true confession time, folks. I'm no young executive and I'm on the far side of 30, but I've been carrying a bag for years. I carry it because I don't like sitting on my wallet, patting pockets for my car keys or

Provincial member congratulates village

Editor:

The recent white supremacist rally which took place in Minden created a lot of media attention not only in Ontario, but in the rest of the country as well.

I wanted to take this opportunity to congratulate you, your editor Russ Duhaime, the Ontario Provincial Police and especially the citizens of Minden for the outstanding way the situation was handled.

Through the leadership of your newspaper, the community of Minden sent a clear message not only to rally participants, but to concerned and interested citizens across the country. The actions of the community indicated very clearly that this sort of activity has no place in our society and certainly is not welcome in Minden.

Your full-page advertisement was an excellent idea and I am very proud that the whole community banded together to voice its strong opposition.

Again congratulations on your leadership and the role the Minden Times played in this whole affair. These types of rallies must be condemned in the strongest possible terms.

John Eakins, Minister,
M.P.P., Victoria-Haliburton.

The following Statement was made by Gerry Phillips, Minister of Citizenship, in the House on July 4:

Mr. Speaker, all members of the House will be aware that a white supremacist, neo-Nazi event was staged in Minden over the past weekend. As I said in the House, just recently, such actions are despicable and contrary to the provincial Policy on Race Relations. They must be condemned in the strongest possible terms.

Mr. Speaker, after the recent incident involving a Jewish synagogue and school in Toronto, officials of my ministry's Race Relations directorate and myself met with representatives of over forty community groups. The results of those consultations have been, first, an outpouring of solidarity by community groups, for the Jewish community and, secondly, the development of plans for a forum on white supremacist activities and how they can be opposed in this province. This forum, facilitated by my ministry, will take place shortly.

The residents of Minden and many other individual citizens and groups are to be commended for their strong stand against racism. I know all members of this House join with them in this stand.

Mr. Speaker, I welcome

the concerns expressed and the support shown by both Opposition parties in these matters and I welcome further suggestions and assistance.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Respect of people earned

Editor:

You have deservedly earned the respect of all decent people:

As I read your issue June 26, it was heart warming to study not only the "editorial", but all the other articles and letters so roundly condemning racism of any kind.

The cartoon just nicely clarified our feelings.

Summer residents of the Minden area for 30 odd years, we have always received courtesy and friendliness from the community.

Again our compliments and thanks for a superb effort.

Fundraising is no excuse

Editor:

Responding to Messrs. Hilhorst, Linington and George's letter in the July 3 edition of The Times, it is most commendable that $400,000 was raised toward such a worthy cause as Retinitis Pigmentosa. This charity as well as others is worthy of everyone's support.

I still maintain that whatever the cause or charity may be and whatever the method of fundraising may be, it gives no one the right to damage or destroy the property of others and quite frankly I make no apology for the references to "jackasses" and "thugs" because people who do this are nothing more than such. I certainly did not categorize everyone who participated in the ride as such and you know better. However, the "thug" who tore up my newly seeded lawn was riding a Harley-Davidson product. This does not in any shape or form categorize all Harley-Davidson riders as such.

In defense of the media's actions

This past week some disparaging comments were made in the local media about the behaviour of the members of the press who covered the white supremacist rally in Minden last weekend.

As one of the reporters whose job it was to cover the rally I feel the need to defend myself and the other media representatives who were at the site.

One of the criticisms levelled at us (the media) was the fact that coverage was given to the member of the Nationalist Party who confronted participants of the community based gathering on Saturday.

The critic is distressed at the fact that television cameras were "lapping up" statements made by the young white supremacist. There was a failure to prolegomenon

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

mention that these same cameras were "lapping up" the statements made by community spokespersons Ed Moll and Sheila Ziman only seconds before.

The argument seems to be that the press should inform people about the positive aspects of a news event but protect the public from any sort of negative views.

Nonsense.

The notion that somehow hearing a "nice looking young man" spouting white supremacist ideas is going to convert the viewing public to his ideology is ridiculous and is tantamount to supporting censorship.

It should never be the responsibility of the media to decide what information the public should, or should not hear. It's elitist to suggest that the press is somehow smarter and wiser than the general public and is therefore qualified to filter the information we give.

In the case of the white supremacist arguing with local residents at the rally on the Village Green, it was

Miracle baby

The doctors say she's a walking time bomb. The nurses call her the "mystery miracle baby" because of her astonishing will to live. But to anyone else who has ever met the child, Breanna Barras is an adorable little girl with a smile so bright it can light up the room.

Just over five weeks ago, Breanna was lying almost lifeless at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. She had been in the hospital since Mothers' Day and the prognosis wasn't good.

Breanna's mother, Judy, who is on an extended leave of absence from the Ministry of Natural Resources in Minden, was worried that her daughter's time was nearing an end. Like so many times in the past, though, Breanna fooled everyone with her determination to survive. And by Fathers' Day she was back at home, happy and healthier than could be expected of a child with as many ailments as this two-and-a-half-year-old wonder.

Breanna has hydrocephalus, which causes her to have extra spinal fluid around her brain. To clear this, she's had operations to install shunts that drain the fluid off into her stomach. Breanna has three shunts in her head now.

In addition, Breanna gets cranial hemorrhages for no apparent reason. Judy says the doctors have done tests on Breanna and on herself in an effort to find out what is causing the hemorrhaging, but they can't figure it out. Doctors told her it's a small blood vessel disorder that sometimes happens with very old people or alcoholics. Breanna obviously falls into neither category.

Some times the hemorrhaging will clog the shunts, making another surgery necessary. In her short life, Breanna has undergone surgery 30 times for various reasons. As a result of all this surgery, many of her veins have collapsed and the doctors have now fitted her with a PortaCat so they can readily hook her up to an intravenous device.

In addition to all her other health problems, Breanna suffers from spinal meningitis, which is inflammation of the meninges of the spinal cord.

Some of Breanna's problems stem from Judy's troubled pregnancy. Breanna was a twin, but at the fourth month of the pregnancy, Judy lost the other twin. The doctors now believe Breanna suffered a small stroke at that time, which may have caused the cyst she has behind her left eye.

The pretty, blonde haired little girl has since suffered a number of strokes, the worst of which left her partially paralysed on the left side of her body.

Breanna was just three months old when her problems became apparent. When she was first diagnosed, Judy was told that half her daughter's brain was missing. That's when they called in Dr. Robin Humphrey, the neurosurgeon who has since overseen Breanna's treatment.

In fact, Breanna is missing three quarters of her temporal lobe. This is the section of the brain that controls speech and motor skills. With that missing, Judy was told that Breanna would never Breanna Barras has an incredible will to live. Her mother, Judy, is equally determined to make sure every day of her daughter's life is special.

Young Breanna Barras is a survivor. In spite of her many illnesses, the two-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Judy Barras is a bright and cheery little girl. Here, she cuddles with one of the Domer puppets that was given to her during a recent stay at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

be able to speak or understand language.

However, the miracle baby fooled the experts on that count, too. It's plain to see that Breanna understands plenty of what her mother tells her. She also outwits the doctors with her speech. Although these skills suffer some when she goes into the hospital for prolonged spells, she soon regains and expands on her vocabulary when she returns home, Judy said.

"That's why she's a miracle. She's not supposed to walk or talk and she does both," Judy said. Although the left side of her brain is shrinking, the right side is apparently compensating for the loss.

In spite of all her problems, Breanna has always been a very happy baby, says Judy. Her bright smile and uncomplaining nature made her a bit of a celebrity with the nurses in ward 6B of the hospital. "The nurses on 6B got to know her well," Judy said. "Breanna grew up with them." Now that she's older, Breanna goes to ward 5G when she's in the hospital, where she has won the hearts of all the nurses on that floor as well.

Almost half of Breanna's two and a half years has been spent in the hospital. Her longest stay in was four months. Her longest stay at home was five and a half months. Although she has spent most holidays in the hospital, she and her family have been fortunate to have her home for both of her Christmases.

But she's home now and Judy and her parents, Betty and Bernard Trumbull, are enjoying every minute they can with the little girl whose curious manner and bright eyes make her so easy to love.

Dr. Humphrey's advice when Breanna last returned from the hospital was to keep her comfortable and without pain. He told Judy that "if she gets better, hug her, love her and enjoy her." When Judy asks how much longer Breanna will live, he just shakes his head. But Judy now takes that in stride. No one really knows how long they are going to live, she says. "You don't know how long you're going to live, do you?" she asks.

Judy's commitment to her daughter is remarkable in its own right. The past few years have been an incredible struggle. When Breanna is in the hospital, Judy finds a place to stay in Toronto and spends from 12 to 14 hours each day with her daughter. "What do you do," she asks. "I can't just give up on her." She says it has been a constant worry. "My life is her life right now."

However, Judy admits that her dedication to Breanna would be impossible if it was not for all the support she's received from friends and relatives. The support has been tremendous, she says. "We've had so many people praying and sending cards."

The Ministry of Natural Resources has also been helpful in granting her the extended leave. She says that if she had to work instead of being with her daughter it's possible that Breanna might not have lived this long.

Judy also praises the support from Dr. Humphrey, Dr. Robert Hayes and the nurses at the Haliburton hospital, Dr. Michael Boyer in Peterborough, her relatives in Toronto and Richmond Hill—"and especially Digger", which is a relative's dog that Breanna has become attached to.

Judy and Breanna are now living in Peterborough, where Breanna can receive therapy through Five Counties health care. They are often in Minden, though, where Breanna soaks up a tremendous amount of love from her grandparents.

For now, Judy is taking it one day at a time, accepting as much enjoyment as possible from her child and returning the affection in kind. In spite of what the doctors say, Judy feels there is always hope for at least one more day.

Board of Education will lobby for funds

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Haliburton County Board of Education has formed a committee to lobby the provincial government for an increase in educational funding.

The committee consisting of Chairman Wendy Ladurantaye, Lutterworth trustee Cheryl Murdoch and Bicroft and Cardiff trustee Linda Mumford, was formed at the last board meeting.

The committee plans to form a lobbying strategy and collect data over the course of the next couple of months and hopes to have some sort of presentation ready for the province by the fall.

Ladurantaye said she met with John Adams, a lobbyist for the Ontario Public School Board Association, and he suggested the creation of the committee. Adams told Ladurantaye he would assist in helping the Haliburton Board design a plan of action.

Haliburton County was hit hard by the province's fiscal restraint this year.

The board of education received almost no increase in its provincial grant and was left off of the province's three-year capital expenditure plan. Elementary schools in both Minden and Haliburton are suffering from a lack of space and require the construction of additions.

At the meeting, Education Director Stuart Baker presented the trustees with a list of school boards in Toronto comparing the increase in provincial grants to the increase in student population.

Baker says the growth in the number of students in Haliburton County is not reflected in the amount of provincial grants the board received.

The county experienced an overall growth in student population of six per cent but the provincial grant increased by less than a hundredth of one per cent. By comparison, the Halimand Board of Education, located near Hamilton, had a 4.3 per cent increase in student population and had their grants increased by 11.3 per cent.

The student population growth is not being matched by the grants received from the provincial government. Inevitably, the quality of education must suffer.

Compounding the problem in Haliburton County is the fact that most of the growth is being experienced in the elementary grades. In those classes, the growth in student population was nine per cent.

Besides the money the province has committed to capital expenditure projects for the next three years, a smaller amount has been set aside for use by school boards with special needs.

Baker suggested that the board could use the funding data to make a case to the province for having Haliburton considered as having special needs.

When the province is calculating education grants, one aspect that works against Haliburton's favour is the area's high assessment compared to the number of students in the schools.

According to Baker, the province considers Haliburton's tax base as high enough that it doesn't need as much provincial assistance. Haliburton's 'wealth' is based largely on the fact that much of the property is owned by cottagers who pay taxes but don't have children in the local education system. Baker says there's a limit to how much you can ask seasonal residents to contribute to a school system they don't use.

Representatives of the Haliburton County Board of Education met with the Minister of Education in 1986 to bring their concerns about funding practices to the province's attention. Baker says they presented the ministry with data to support their arguments and while the minister was 'interested' there was no great change in the amount of money forthcoming.

Haliburton's situation is not unique and is common to many small boards, says Baker. While a 10 per cent increase in student population in Haliburton may only mean 200 more students compared to 2,000 more students in some of the larger school boards, Baker says the small boards still have to find accommodation for the growth. "We still have to provide one more classroom for every 25 new students," he says.

Baker says the province needs to establish criteria by which to evaluate the needs of individual school boards. He points out that school boards in northern Ontario are given special consideration because of where they are located regardless of their ability to raise taxes.

One of the most important criteria that should be considered, according to Baker, is the size of the school system. He says small boards don't have the resources to meet the needs of students as easily as large boards do. Small boards are also in the position of having to operate small schools, like Haliburton County's Dorset school which has only 15 students.

In Haliburton's case, Baker says consideration should be given to the large geographic area over which the students are scattered, putting a strain on transportation costs and sharing of facilities.

Baker says after the new lobbying committee has gathered its data it is hoped they can present their case for increased funding directly to the minister's office.

Negative images are part of the story

important to report on the event.

That brief argument showed the public exactly why the community rally and YES posters were necessary. It demonstrated this more clearly than any speech could have.

Instead of rumours and second-hand reports of a white supremacist rally in Minden, television viewers got a chance to see first hand that people who hold racist views really do exist and really do pose a threat. Better yet, the cameras recorded a confrontation that was symbolic of the whole weekend. Local residents came out ahead in the fight.

What image could be more powerful than a member of the Nationalist Party of Canada reading a statement which affirms the equality of all persons regardless of race, religion or ethnic origin?

Showing the local residents protesting the Nazi gathering was important, but far more important was showing the two ideologies face to face and having the racists walk away in defeat.

And if letting racists speak their minds on television is going to convert people into white supremacists, does that mean that covering homicides will turn people into murderers or that covering a speech by Prime Minister Brian Mulroney will turn everyone into Progressive Conservatives? Of course not. The media has to allow people to make up their own minds on issues based on all the available information, not just the 'right' information.

It's important to remember that it doesn't matter if there were 20 reporters on the road outside Beattie's house or only one. The Nazi rally wasn't news because the media gave it coverage, the media gave it coverage because it was news.

Every single reporter who was there, without exception, was there for the same reason. To cover a story which had serious implications not only for Minden and Haliburton County, but for our whole society. If we had all hidden our eyes and ignored the chants of "white power", the rally still would have happened and the cross would still have been burnt.

But it's doubtful that the community's counter rally on Saturday or the B'Nai Brith's show of support on Sunday would have been so effective if the other side of the story been ignored.

By showing the negative images, the media legitimized the positive response, not vice versa.

The real test of any news story should be the answer to the question 'do people want to know about this?' You only had to count the number of cars that passed by Beattie's house last Saturday filled with people who wanted to get a first-hand look at the skinheads to know that, for whatever reason, this was something that was important to the public.

And if we reporters joked and talked amongst ourselves while standing on the road for most of the day, who can blame us? We were there primarily to report what might happen if violence broke out. Not because we are blood-thirsty villains who crave violence but because it's our job. Anyone who felt differently could have easily left after spending 10 minutes watching the skinheads. Not surprisingly we all stayed.

I can honestly say that I'm glad there was no serious problem and I've never been happier that I was bored listening to the skinhead's garbage. But I would have been sorrier if something did happen and I wasn't there doing my job.

Maybe the media isn't responsible for keeping the neo-Nazi white supremacist movement under control, but we sure shouldn't be responsible for keeping it hidden in a dark closet where it can grow in numbers and influence, unseen and unchecked.

That's already happened once this century, and six million people died as a result. I think once is enough.

No place to leave unwanted but useful items

Editor:

We have been cottagers in the area for the past four years, and have always been pleased with the availability of merchandise and services in Minden. However, although I have asked a number of local people, I have not been able to find out where I could donate unwanted items. Since I am sure other cottagers may wonder the same, could you please print for our benefit the names and locations of charitable organizations that would accept:

1) outgrown children's clothes

and books

3) adult clothing

4) used furniture and appliances

2) toys, puzzles, games

As our children keep growing and we gradually upgrade the furnishings in our cottage, I would like to pass on our still useful items to local organizations, instead of taking them all back to Toronto or to the dump.

Jill Reeve,
Horseshoe Lake.

Stranger's help is appreciated

Editor:

One of the most helpless feelings is to have your car break down on your way home from the cottage on a Sunday night in a heavy downpour.

We (three adults and a family dog) started walking back to town and were only about 100 yards from our car when two young men stopped and offered their help. They drove us to town, helped arrange towing, went back to our car, hooked our trailer on to their truck and took us back to our cottage.

They made a distressing situation much easier to bear. This is just another example of the generosity of the people in the Minden area.

Thank you again, Will Wolfram and friend.

Tom & Sharon Nash, Newmarket.

Allsaw Bridge Marine Larson's Delta-Conic Hull

The Delta-Conic Advantage

The Delta-Conic® hull incorporates three basic features that combine to give you superior performance and an exceptionally smooth ride.

1 THE "CONIC" The bow section has a deep entry forward and conical-shaped surfaces extending from the keel to the chine. This design provides clean entry into water for optimum waterflow with minimum drag.

2 THE "DELTA" Delta-shaped aft sections are of constant deadrise, delivering a superior planing surface. Thanks to this configuration, the bow rises gently, and the boat comes to plane at lower speeds than other hull designs. There is no waste of power "digging" into the water. And it not only stays on plane more easily, but it stays on plane even at midrange speeds.

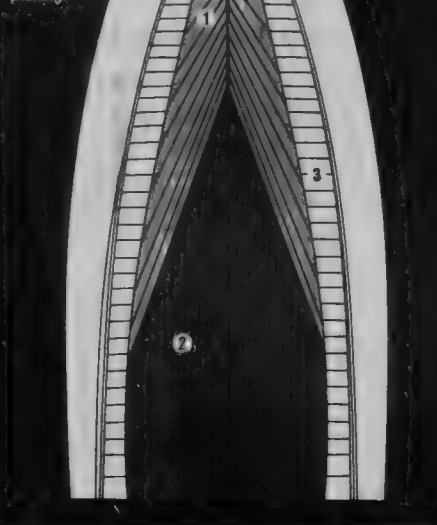

3 THE CHINE An obvious deviation from normal hulls is the wide-lipped chine bow to stern on the Delta-Conic® hull. This design provides an incredible dampening effect on rolling; there is no continuing pendulum effect that is so common in V-hull bottoms. The result is an exceptionally stable platform, as well as a dry ride—even at full throttle.

Conical surfaces have no compound curve. A straight edge laid on the area will be in line contact at all times.
Delta sections are symmetrically disposed flat surfaces.

Wide chine remains constant, except for taper at bow. Unique design dampens lateral roll; reverse angle directs spray away during planing.

Conical contour extends 1/3 of hull length at the keel, and approximately 2/3 the length at the chine.

Meeting the needs of today's boater with famous Larson above waterline features and below waterline efficiency.

Larson Boats, long known for value, style and performance, started the pleasure boating industry in 1980 with their new hull design concept. Today, Larson pleasure boat owners and sport-fishermen alike enjoy the benefits of the patented Delta-Conic Hull.

The Delta-Conic Hull offers the best combination of interior space and hull design in boating history. By utilizing the features of the patented Delta-Conic Hull, Larson has designed their lines of pleasure boats and offshore fishing boats with unequalled efficiency and performance.

Reduce fuel consumption.

The Larson Delta-Conic Hull design provides exceptional helm response and reduced fuel consumption. By getting on plane quickly, the Delta-Conic reduces forward wallow.

Larson Delta-Conic helm response is especially important to skiers, boaters and fishermen anxious to get on the move. It effectively eliminates the bow to the sky problem common to so many popular outboard and I/O models.

Enhance your leisure cruising.

Today the leisure boater spends more time than ever in slow leisure cruising. Larson Delta-Conic enhances leisure cruising by reducing stern movement found in many other boats. The Larson Delta-Conic also has the capacity to stay on plane at lower speeds while maintaining on-plane control.

During a performance test, Powerboat Magazine found that a Larson Delta Sportcruiser was able to maintain plane at just 16 mph with its I/O turning at just 2500 rpm.

Handle the rough water with ease.

When it comes to handling rough water, the Delta-Conic really performs. The sharp Larson V forward of midship handles tough chops and ominous swells alike. When the Larson settles back down after a waterborne lift, the gentle V running amidship to the transom cushions re-entry.

Powerboat Magazine found the Larson Delta Sportcruiser handled superbly in rough water.

"During the time of the Sportcruiser test, the wind was blowing at a very gusty 20 mph, and the water conditions were a combination of whitecaps with rolling swells. No matter from what direction we tackled the water, the boat diced through with incredible ease!"

The Larson Delta-Conic gives you the most for your boat dollar.

More room for living and storage.

"I can't believe the roomy feeling I got from this 25 foot boat!" That's another comment from Powerboat Magazine's report on the Larson Delta Sportcruiser. Its

A. Delta sections maintain constant deadrise angle to chine.
B. Chine lip portion extends at an angle opposite the same delta sections angle.

A. Total width of chine, stern to bow, is approximately 20% of total hull width.

And, the Delta-Conic keeps you dry. Note the wide lip chine in the illustration. These "flats" which run the length of the hull, contribute to stability and a dry ride.

Because of the outstanding design of the Delta-Conic hull, Larson boats perform while at the same time conserving fuel. Whether in full flight from foul weather or in full chase of fish or other fun on the water, outstanding cabin design gives you the feeling of a much larger boat. The Delta-Conic hull offers more room for living and storage space and efficient deck plans assure more room for fun at dockside.

Because of Larson's superb combination of hull design and above waterline features, Delta-Conic models are winning acclaim for both comfort and performance.

THE DELTA CONIC HULL IS AVAILABLE ONLY ON LARSON BOATS WHICH ARE ONLY AVAILABLE AT ALLSAW BRIDGE MARINE.

DEMONSTRATION RIDES BY APPOINTMENT.

Beattie is evicted

Landlord gives him three months to move out

An eviction notice has been delivered to William John Beattie, who organized a white supremacist rally on his rented property north of Minden on the Canada Day weekend.

The 47-year-old man, along with his wife and three children, has until the end of September to vacate the small house on Bobcaygeon Road. The eviction notice was delivered last Tuesday by the landlord, who has asked to remain unnamed.

Under the Landlord and Tenant act, Beattie must be given 60 days notice of eviction. However, that lead time can not begin until the end of July, which means he can continue to rent the property until the end of September.

In addition, the landlord has asked that no more rallies be staged on the property and has been assured that he will comply with this request.

Almost 100 young skinheads and white supremacists attended the July 1 rally at Beattie's home. The event included a cross burning, live skinhead bands, and boisterous chanting of white supremacist phrases.

The landlord examined the property last Tuesday and says there was no damage done. Except for the trampled grass, there was no evidence that a rally had been staged on the property, the landlord said.

Hospital staff honoured for many years of service

Three staff at the Minden Hospital were recently honoured for their many years of service.

Two members of the nursing staff, Audrey Northey and Betty Harrison have retired, as has John Hulbig, a volunteer member of the Minden Ambulance Service and hospital maintenance assistant.

Audrey Northey has been a nurse since 1952 and has worked at the Minden Hospital since July 1958. Betty Harrison has been a member of the Minden Hospital Staff since 1970. Prior to then she was a nurse at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home. John Hulbig has been a volunteer member of the ambulance service for the past 11 years. He has also assisted in hospital maintenance duties, filling-in for staff on holidays or leave.

The retiring members of the staff were feted with an evening in their honour held at the Red Umbrella Inn. They were also presented with a number of gifts. John Hulbig received a copy of the photographic book "Haliburton Highlands," Audrey Northey was presented with an afghan created by Irene Moxam and Gladys Walker, while Betty Harrison received a quilt created by Irene Moxam.

THE MOORE LAKE INN - NEW OWNERS

Derek and Rosemary Lowry, the new owners of the Moore Lake Inn.

Long time Toronto residents Rosemary and Derek Lowry were on the verge of big-city burnout, when they recently decided to buy The Moore Lake Inn, Highway 35 at Moore Falls. Although Rosemary and Derek had been indirectly associated with several restaurants, neither had ever considered "doing a Bob Newhart" and entering the country inn business.

Both have been exceptionally busy since acquiring The Moore Lake Inn; Rosemary redesigning the menu, Derek building a new sun deck; other changes will include a unique ornamental herb garden and hopefully, in the fall, an extended resident's lounge.

The Lowrys plan to run the long established Inn year round, recognizing that the Haliburton Region is becoming a demand tourist destination summer and winter.

U.S., France dominate at white water

Paddlers from France and the United States dominated the white water slalom competition held July 1 and 2 at the Minden Wild Water Preserve.

The USA team captured the top spot in two competitions while the French paddlers placed in second and third spots.

Taking top spot in the single canoe (C-1) event was the USA competitor Jon Lugbill who was the C-1 champion in 1988. Jon completed the course without penalty (hitting or missing a gate) with a best time of 188.56 seconds.

Second spot went to his teammate David Hearn who also completed the course without penalty. His time was 190.43 seconds. Third place went to Thierry Humeau of France with a time of 197.13 seconds.

The best Canadian finish in the C-1 event went to Larry Norman in fifteenth place. He was followed by Roy Sharplin in sixteenth spot. The two Canadians turned in best times of 226.73 seconds and 227.24 respectively. Larry Norman has been the Canadian champion for the past three seasons.

In the two-man canoe (C-2) competition, the United States team of Jacobi and Strabaugh took top spot. Despite a first run which resulted in 65 penalty points, the team managed a flawless second run to outdistance the second placing French team. The best time for the first place finishers was 206.85 seconds.

The French pair of Daille and Lelievre took second place with two penalty-free runs and a best time of 210.63 seconds. Third spot went to Haller and McEwan of the USA with a best time of 212.23 seconds. There were no Canadians in the C-2 competition.

(more on page 16)

Yugoslavian paddler Nenad Martinis threads his way downstream during the C-1 competition at the Minden Wild Water Preserve. The European competitor placed ninth in this race which is the first of seven in a world circuit to determine the 1989 champion.

Canadian paddler takes eighth place in K-1

In the single-man kayak (K-1) races, Richard Fox of Great Britain, the 1988 World Cup champion, squeezed past Laurent Brissaud of France by six hundredths of a second to claim the top spot. Both had flawless runs, although Brissaud's second race suffered from a 16-second time difference. Brissaud was ranked third in last year's World Cup.

Third place in the Minden race went to Michael Reys of Holland with a time of 179.72 seconds.

The top Canadian in the K-1 was David Ford at eighth spot. He had a time of 185.71 seconds. Ford is from Alberta.

Czechoslovakian paddler Stepanka Hilgertova had an easy win in the single kayak for women (K-1W) competition. She beat the nearest competitor by five seconds. Her best time over the two races was 205.37 seconds. She is a relative new-comer to the winner's circle.

In second place in the K-1W event was Sheryl Boyle of Ontario. Her best time of 255.95 seconds placed her nineteenth.

The Minden White Water Slalom competition is the first in a series of seven races to be held this summer to determine the world champions. The paddlers went on to compete in South Bend, Indiana and Wausau, Wisconsin. The competition then shifts to Europe in August where four or more races round out the 1989 circuit.

Snowdon dumps are being regulated

Snowdon Council has recently moved to regulate access and dumping at the Township's two landfill sites.

Responding to concerns by the Ministry of the Environment over unrestricted access and problems with unauthorized burning, Snowdon Council has erected fences and installed gates at the Lochlin and Irondale landfill sites.

In passing a regulatory bylaw, council has determined that the hours of operation at the sites will be Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., as well as Sundays and holiday Mondays from noon until 8 p.m. to better accommodate weekend residents.

Alternate arrangements may be made by local contractors and commercial operators with the landfill site attendant, or by attending at the Municipal office to pick up and return a key to the gates.

The bylaw also restricts scavenging from the sites, except where approved by the site attendant; prohibits firearms; and limits burning, except where authorized by council.

Snowdon council has offered a reward of $1,000.00 to anyone with information that leads to charges and the conviction of anyone unlawfully setting fire to the landfill sites. Substantial fines are set out for anyone contravening the provisions of the bylaw.

Residents may soon be able to participate in a recycling program.

Snowdon council has expressed a commitment to establishing a recycling depot at both landfill sites in the near future and has endorsed the county's efforts for a joint venture among the area municipalities.

West Guilford says 'Happy Birthday Canada!'

West Guilford and area residents again celebrated a community birthday party in honour of Canada's 122nd anniversary as a nation. As usual it was a fun, family event with activities for young and old.

Each year during the Canada Day festivities, the community honours one of its own for their contribution to the area and Canada. This year, Holly Sisson received the Pioneer Citizen award.

Mr. Sisson, a former Warden of the county, and his wife Sylvia also received a prize for being the grandparents with the largest number of descendants in attendance.

One of the competitions proved to be very A-peeling. Participants were asked to peel an apple and create the longest possible unbroken peeling. Vicky Sisson, lower right, demonstrates the concentration needed to create a 30 inch long peel. Joan Ogle, however, took the prize, 50% of the entry fee, $13 with an 88 inch peeling.

Another popular feature of the day is the across the lake swim. For the third year in a row, 12 year old Mark Stamp was the first to touch the dock at the West Guildford Beach. His time was 43 minutes. Second place went to Pine Lake cottager Pam Cewson, 39, of Mississauga with a time of 45 minutes. The photo at the lower left, shows the cross the lake champion completing the swim.

Winners in the horse-shoe pitching competition was George Nicholls and Lockie Morrison.

The young face in the upper right, was one of many magically transformed into imaginary characters through face painting.

Numerous activities filled out the day's activities which culminated with a dance at the community centre and fireworks display. All in all, a great way to celebrate Canada Day.

DON'T MISS THIS ONE

Not all trustees favour shorts for students

solution to this problem is to require that the school crest on the left leg must be visible at all times. Stamp says this rule will allow students to roll the legs of the shorts up one turn above the knee and no more.

The shorts will be sold to the students at cost, which amounts to about $15. Stamp says the student council is treating this as a service and not a way to make money. If students don't wish to buy the shorts, they may rent them for the price of having them cleaned, said Stamp.

Stamp said the student council wants to see the project through to completion and will maintain control to ensure that it is followed through correctly.

The students have the support of the teachers.

Principal Peter Forgrave said the plan required the approval of 75 per cent of the teachers before it could be presented to the board. Eighty per cent of the teachers supported the idea in a recent vote.

Trustee Len Salvatori said the last time shorts were allowed at the school, the scheme fell apart in three weeks because some of the shorts being worn "embarrassed" some of the teachers.

Stamp replied that the students' council had learned from the last experiment. They now know how much support to give the project. He also said he hoped peer pressure would be a factor in policing the idea. "A majority of students are in favour of change and only a minority will cause problems." When that happens, Stamp said he hoped the majority would act to correct the situation.

The shorts will be offered in a choice of seven different colours. Stamp said the council considered just having the school colours, red and white, but the feedback from the student body indicated this would take away any individuality.

Despite Stamp's sales pitch, not all trustees were enthusiastic about letting the students wear shorts of any kind.

"Don't you think that making them dress as they would in an adult world will make them grow up the way they should?" asked trustee Nancy Dunford.

LeRoy Eager took comfort in the fact that the students will all be wearing the same style of shorts instead of buying whatever suits their own tastes. "The last time it looked like Waikiki," he said he said of the wildly coloured shorts that had become popular.

The trustees discussed the proposal later in the evening after Mowat and Stamp left. Trustee Ed de Grosbois suggested giving the student council "teeth" in order to deal with students who abuse the shorts policy. "Let them police their own situation," he said.

Craig Pettit said the board should stipulate that the appearance of the shorts must be maintained and not altered in any way.

The trustees passed the resolution amending the dress code to allow the school-approved shorts by a vote of eight to five.

Two Haliburton County Ambulance attendants recently received awards in recognition of their bravery above and beyond the call of duty. Dave Nimigon, left, and Brad Robinson recieved the Commissioner's Citation at the OPP awards banquet held at the Peterborough Holiday Inn on June 22. Nimigon and Robinson were honoured for their attempts to rescue the occupants of a car that had submerged in the Gull River near West Guilford on December 21.

Dog show is a treat

Thursday the Gelert Ladies were here with a delicious lunch and since it was the last Thursday in the month they also brought in a lovely birthday cake. The birthday people were V. Harrison, W. Barnum, L. Prentice, G. Coburn, Ada Lewis, and Ina McGuire. Ray Jenkins who was here to see his mother played the piano during our tea party. We sincerely thank all the Gelert ladies and Ray for making our afternoon so enjoyable.

After the tea party Nila Reynolds and Joan Young came to visit some friends at Hyland Crest. Nila came to visit her Aunt Pearl Lyle and found she also knows me. Joan came to visit Annie Jones then she came down to get Nila and I knew her too. Her mother was my teacher the year I tried my entrance into high school.

Mr. McAllister came in the evening and called bingo for us. There were more attended so we had a senior league

by Winnifred Barnum

good evening.

Our sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Ida Schell who passed away Saturday, July 1, 1989. She was the mother of Mark Schell who is in charge of the kitchen and staff and sister of Ina McGuire and May Horsely, Residents of Hyland Crest.

Ada Lewis had her cousins Isabel Davey from Lindsay and Mrs. Joy Madlock from Valentia to see her last Wednesday.

Friday afternoon we had a dog show in the auditorium. Rhonda Francis mostly organized the show and John Francis did the announcing of the acts and threw in a few jokes and read some poems. The performers were Jackie Chillman and her dog Morka, Cathy Ridsdale and Chance, Amber Bunn and Brandy, Joan Bunn and Champ, Stacey Bunn and Kelly, Cathy Fisher and Brody, Edna Loucks and Angel, Rhonda Francis and Shona, Craig Bunn, Heidi Petre, Marlene Foster, and Yvette Foster were helpers. Marge Francis carried the pail and scoop in case of an accident. Darnell Francis with Scuffy who really acted his part, Scuffy was a boy dressed to look like a dog and acted like one as well. The dogs were beautiful and well behaved. A couple did not like the shiny floors in the auditorium. Most of the Residents were there and enjoyed it, especially petting the dogs. Thank you all for coming and entertaining us at Hyland Crest.

On July 3, 1989 Beth and Bob Dawson called on Doris Dawson.

Annie Schultz had her nephew, Ron Mark to see her this week.

Horseshoe Lake annual meeting

by Fran Smith
Secretary

The Horseshoe Lake Property Owner's Association annual meeting was held on Saturday, June 24, at the Minden Wild Water Preserve clubhouse. We had an excellent turnout of members on a gorgeous summer morning--yes, even with caterpillars and flies.

Vern Gilbert, the President of our Association, called the meeting to order at 10 a.m. and then welcomed our guest speakers and two visitors from the Canning Lake Association.

Our guest speakers this year were Dan Smith and Gary Clements from the Ministry of Natural Resources. Dan gave an interesting talk along with a slide presentation on Fishery's Management. He was pleased to hear of our upcoming Rock Bass Derby as this is good for our lake. He also indicated that the lake would be stocked next year with whitefish. He reminded cottagers not to start any work on their beach area without first contacting the ministry office in Minden. We were pleased to hear that they are working with the Trent Waterway people to ensure that they do not damage fish life by drawing down too much water during spawning time.

Gary Clements spoke on a topic close to us--caterpillars and flesh flies. The former are not as bad as they anticipated and now with the arrival of the flies, they could be even less next year. However, the flies will be with us next year or until such time as there are no caterpillar cocoons. If our association decides to spray the lake area, the ministry does approve of the BT insecticide used by private spray companies and, of course, this cost is assumed by the property owners.

phlets and answered a wide variety of questions. Our thanks to both these gentlemen.

Under old business, Vern updated the renumbering of our lake. This has cost our association over $2,000. He stressed that this project will work only if individual property members place identifying signs on their property. Vern also mentioned that we were pleased with the result of the house-to-house membership canvass that took place on the May 24 weekend. We increased our membership fee to $10 and this helped build up our depleted resources.

The slate of officers remained the same except for Jill Reeves replacing Bert Pink as a Director. Vern thanks both Roy and Bert Pink for their work in the association. Under the social committee, the Rock Bass Derby, Wine and Cheese, and golf tournament were discussed.

Our visitors from Canning Lake, Gary and Janet Kapac, then spoke to our members. Gary has contacted other cottage associations to ask for their support. They have hired a lawyer to look after their problem with council regarding spot rezoning on their lake. It was voted to offer our financial support to Canning Lake when executive has had a chance to check our treasury.

The sailing group are still meeting every Saturday afternoon, at 1 p.m. at the 'Rock'. All types of sailors are invited to take part in these races including wind surfers. The cottagers were also advised that the OPP are monitoring our lake and that paddleboats must have life jackets, an oar, and some sort of noise maker. If not, you could face a $55 fine.

Vern thanked Isabelle Heaven for providing the coffee and donuts today and he closed the meeting at 11:50 a.m.

Monday the Residents Council was held in the crafts room at 2 o'clock. Several issues were discussed.

Tuesday morning the chapel service was taken by Rev. Parker of the Anglican Church, Minden. It was also a communion service.

Saturday my niece Jacqueline Yateman, her son Kerry and wife Joanne and daughter Vanessa came for me on their way to Camp Adelaide, Jacqueline's grand-daughter Melissa enrolled for a week in the camp. We stopped and saw Terry at the water slide. It was a happy afternoon.

Gladys Kirkpatrick had her son Harold and wife Wendy to see her Wednesday morning.

Tuesday afternoon I had to see the dentist, Joan Sawyer took me up. When I finished Kevin and Claudia took me to Terry's for dinner, Rick was home so we all celebrated Claudia's birthday which is Saturday July 8, 1989 together. Rick and a friend Tim brought me home to Hyland Crest.

Congratulations are extended to Pearl Lyle on her 92nd birthday, Wednesday, July 5, 1989. her daughters Jean and Anna took her out for lunch at noon. Happy birthday and good health for many more.

Doris and Linda took some of the Residents on a bus ride Tuesday afternoon.

Pastor Murray was here last night in the main lounge for a service.

Curlers enjoy day on the links

The Beaverbrook Golf Club again hosted the Minden Seniors' Curling Club Annual Golf Tournament, Tuesday, June 20, and provided 57 golfers an opportunity to show their skills.

Competition was keen in this annual best-ball four-some format and it certainly showed in the low scores turned in by many team captains. A similar competition was held on the putting green and skill was displayed by many who were not as fortunate to drive the ball great distances.

In the evening, golfers and friends gathered at the Curling Club for a buffet dinner, friendly banter and prize distribution. Russ King, as Chairman of the Golf Committee, thanked several members for their hard work and assistance which made the day a huge success.

Now for the prizes: The winning team of Roy

McDonald, Tony Dymott, Grace Munns and Doris Grant were presented the Gil and Mary Scott Trophy presented by Gil Scott. Second place was earned by Earl McDonald, Robbie Robertson, Paul O'Brien and Wyn Newberry and third place went to Hal Burton, Tom Hurtt, Ed Bulger and Rene Codlin. Other prizes went to Glenda Robertson and John Thomas for the longest drives and to Merle Codlin and Tom Hurtt for closest to the hole.

Accuracy and some luck were good enough for Lloyd Boskett, Norm Gilmore, Bill Juby and Ruth Bishop to carry off the putting award. Many thanks to Russ King and his committee for providing such a great day.

On September 14 at Blairhampton Golf Club, Russ and his committee hope to put together another day of golf and festivities.

TSW water level report

On Monday, June 26 the reserve lakes in Haliburton area contained 97.3 percent of the normal full amount of water. This was 8.5 percent higher than the 10 year average and some 14 percent higher than in 1988 for the same date.

The onset of drier weather since Friday, June 23 has resulted in a dramatic reversal of the high flow conditions along the waterway. The Kawartha Lakes, Otonabee and Trent Rivers were reduced to usual summer levels and flows respectively by the end of the week (June 30). Navigation on the Trent River resumed on Thursday June 29.

Brian Shaw, number 9, reaches for the ball as a Fenelon Falls player stretches for first base during a Tri-County Fastball league game Thursday at the Minden diamond. The hosts, Rockcliffe Hustlers went down to a 2-0 defeat at the hands of the visitors. Jack Snell was on the mound for the Hustlers and despite the loss, helped to hold the Fenelon team in check. The Hustlers play every Thursday evening at the Minden diamond.

Seniors: take care in the extreme heat

by Doreen Hawman

The Office for Senior Citizen's Affairs advises older adults to avoid the severe hot temperatures and humidity we experience throughout the summer months. The latest bulletin from the Ministry called "Beat the Heat", offers the following suggestions to help avoid serious illness by: closing the drapes to keep your dwelling cool; circulate the air with an electric fan or an air conditioner; wear loose-fitting light apparel; drink lots of fluids; (avoid sweet beverages) eat lightly; do your errands in the morning when it is still cool; relax and take it easy during the peak periods of heat and humidity and take a cool bath or shower to lower the body temperature. If you are on medication, check with your family doctor for guidance, as some drugs tend to make it more difficult for the body to cope with heat and humidity. Note: Do not ignore signs like fatigue, dizziness, headaches, faintness, this is an indication that your body is having a problem coping, contact your family doctor immediately.

If you would like a copy of the bulletin or have a question that needs answering, be sure and drop into your nearest Information Centre or call 457-2733 - 286-4100 (Tuesdays only.)

Summer fun will help fight boredom

by Deneena Davis
'Summer Fun' co-ordinator

Are you bored sitting around the house, missing children your own age? Why not come out and get involved in Summer Fun? Baseball is always good to keep the spirits high, and Monday at 10 a.m. at the Community Centre baseball diamond is the place to be to get in on the action. The program is open to children between the ages of six and 14 and sports are being offered mornings for an hour and a half on Monday, Tuesday, Thursdays and Fridays. For more information on the specific programs call the arena at 286-1936 and ask for Deneena.

Each Wednesday is Activity Centre Day from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Special thanks on behalf of all of the children and parents involved in Summer Fun '89 goes to Constable Mike Maybee for his safety lesson to the children last Wednesday. As well as the lesson, the children learned how to use a compass and tried their hand at an orienteering course. This proved to be quite successful with all of the children completing the course in the correct order. The craft time, as well as some time for watergames in the intense heat, rounded out our afternoon.

Next Wednesday the children can expect to spend their time at the craft table making wall hangings. We also will be spending our time trying to learn how to gimp. Gimp is the plastic lacing that is used to make bracelets. It is always a hit and a challenge to try. For those with more adventure in their soul, Abby Burk and I will be constructing a treasure hunt. It will be complete with goodies for everyone, so come out and get involved.

On July 19 we will be having a special guest appearance by a local artist. Wendy Ladurantaye from Dreams Come True Stained Glass will be giving a drawing lesson. If you have a special interest in drawing this is a day to mark on your calendar. Hope to see you there!

This week our special mention goes to Patrick, Chris and Lisa Morris who have attended the program every day since it began. Tune in next week for an update and to check out our special mention bulletin.

I CAN'T REMEMBER

Just a line to say I'm living That I'm not among the dead, Though I'm getting more forgetful And mixed up in the head. I got used to my arthritis, To my dentures I'm resigned I can manage my bifocals, But God, I miss my mind. For sometimes I can't remember When I stand at the foot of the stairs, If I must go up for something.

Or have I just come down from there.

And before the 'fridge so often, My mind is filled with doubt, Have I just put food away, or Have I come to take some out.

And there's time when it is dark With my nightcap on my head, I don't know if I'm retiring or just getting into bed. So, if it's my turn to write you, There's no need to get sore, I may think that I have written, And don't want to be a bore.

So remember that I love you, And wish that you were near. But now it's nearly mail time,

So must say "goodbye dear".

There I stand beside the mailbox With face so very red. Instead of mailing you the letter, I had opened it instead!

Anon.

Carole-Ann Wright, who is visiting from Scotland, has had a wonderful vacation so far. She tells us she has enjoyed every moment of her visit to Canada and hopes to return in the near future. Say 'Hi' to all our friends in Scotland on Wednesday Carole-Ann.

The winners in Thursdays card games at Agnes Jamieson Gallery were as follows: High Lady - Vera Ward, High Man - Marie Dennie, Low Man - Harold Dixon, Lone Hands - Jack Chilton.

Lots of activities on the holiday weekend, including the Crazy Raft Race on the river. Among the entries was the one from Ralph Linstead. Floating with him down the river were Kevin, 9, and Christopher, 11, Kapiton of Thornhill and Howard Frellich of Ajax.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Let the birthday party begin

Flag in hand and a comfortable front row seat, Robert McEdwards is ready for the fireworks to begin July 1 at the Minden ball diamond. Robert was among hundreds of spectators who were on hand to "ooh" and "aah" at the spectacular aerial display. The performance was sponsored by the Minden Fire Department in conjunction with the municipality, the federal government and local services clubs. Robert, who was somewhat reluctant to talk to the press, revealed he likes to spend his summer at Halls Lake, but calls Burlington his home.

Nature is alive and well in city

by Marion Strebig
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

Normally we don't think of the centre of a busy city as an ideal setting for wild-life. But there are some species which have adapted remarkably to city conditions.

Every May, from the window of my downtown apartment, I watch and listen for the return for the Chimney Swift. Once they return, I listen morning and evening for their feverish chattering high overhead, as they hawk for insects. In towns and cities, the Chimney Swift has taken advantage of man-made columns, like chimneys and airshafts for nesting and roosting, to replace its traditional nesting places in large hollow trees.

Chimney Swifts are creatures of the air; during the day they literally never touch the ground. In the spring, when they return with the swallows, they are easy to pick out from the swallow, even when they are high above. They have stubby little bodies and long, narrow wings which appear to beat alternately, rather than together. But they are energetic and acrobatic flyers, gliding, turning and then, wings beating, suddenly accelerating. Their nests are little shelves attached to the rough edges of the chimney lining. Even the chicks, which are born naked and blind, are soon able to cling fast to the nest or to the rough edges of the brick.

When the Chimney Swifts are winding down from a day of insect catching on the wing, other intrepid high flyers begin their rapid erratic flight in search of insects. On a summer night in the city, there is nothing quite like the explosive plunk of the Nighthawk's dive, or the high-pitched "peentpeent" of its call. This relative of the Whip-poor-will gathers in its widely gaping mouth, all sorts of insects as it flies.

Like the Chimney Swift, the Nighthawk has made use of man's reordering of the world. Since it is a ground nester which makes no real nest, the Nighthawk has found suitable nesting areas on the numerous flat, gravelled rooves we have provided. Here both the female and the eggs blend so well that they are virtually invisible

Last summer I had a call from a worker who, in the course of laying new electrical cable for a building, used the roof for storage of extra cable. On the roof, she had almost stepped on a perfectly camouflaged bird, apparently brooding eggs. The description fitted the nighthawk. The workers made no attempt to move the stored cable until they were sure that the eggs had hatched. I had told her that I thought it unlikely the mother would abandon the nest once the chicks were hatched.

After the hatching the workers carefully moved the coil of cable without the mother leaving the area. For the next couple of weeks I got regular reports on the progress of the small family until the one surviving chick was fledged. Observers were astonished at the mother's ability to withstand the intense heat of last summer, sitting hour after hour in the broiling sun, mouth agape, panting. She never left the nest until evening when the male apparently returned to feed the chicks and the female cut loose to swoop and glide and gather insects.

Although these two species make good use of man-made structure for nesting, the Atlas of Breeding Birds of Ontario show that both birds are widely distributed throughout the province, outside urban areas. If you have been unaware of these acrobats of the air, watch for them and listen for their calls.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Free Trade deal being felt in Canada says MP Bill Scott

by Bill Scott, M.P.

The Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement is, by any standard, a momentous achievement.

Based on a collection of GATT commitments, previous trade arrangements, and assorted ad hoc understandings, the FTA is a comprehensive, detailed trade pact between the world's two largest trading partners. It is also a firm rejection of trade protectionism and positive signal to the world's trading nations.

The deal's effects are now being felt in Canada.

Recently, Canada and the United States reached an agreement on support levels for three primary grains and, according to provisions in the agreement, Canada dropped a trade barrier to oats.

Under the terms of Article 705 of the agreement, Canadian import licences for wheat, barley and oats, and their products, are to be dropped if U.S. support levels for these grains are shown to be equal to or less than Canadian support levels.

On May 3, Canada and the United States exchanged their respective support-level calculations; and because those calculations revealed Canadian oats receive more government support than do American oats, we agreed to drop our import permit requirement for that commodity.

The support calculations, which showed Canada's support level at 11.09 per cent as compared to 8.74 per cent south of the border, are complicated. Canada's agricultural support programs are numerous, can be either direct or indirect, and are different in kind from American support programs. However, the calculation takes this into account and is as fair as possible.

While oats and oat products may now move freely across our border, Canada retains certain rights.

"Under the agreement," said International Trade Minister John Crosbie, "Canada will be able to maintain its high standards of quality control for oats."

Effective immediately, U.S. oats shipped to Canada must be accompanied by an "end-use certificate," which will keep the American product out of our country elevators by demanding the shipment be used at the facility to which it is sent.

American oats must be denatured so they are kept out of our grain marketing system. As well, oats bought into Canada for seed use must be free of disease and be accompanied by a seed certificated issued by Canada Customs and authorized by Agriculture Canada.

The case of oats illustrates two important aspects of the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement.

First, the deal is not as simple, or simply terrible, as the critics would claim. It is, in fact, a comprehensive and complex trading arrangement worked out between people who are well and equally aware of what they have at stake.

Second, the agreement is fair. Support levels are examined rigorously, and trade remedies are accepted only when the case for them is clear.

In the end, both Canada and the U.S. stand to gain.

IN MEMORIAM

STAMP: Sidney. In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away July 11, 1985.

Gone are the days we used share,
 But in our hearts you are always there,
 The gates of memory will never close,
 We miss you more than anyone knows,
 With tender love and deep regret,
 We who love you will never forget.

Sadly missed by wife Elsie and family

BARRY: In loving memory of a dear husband & father who passed away July 8, 1985.

God saw you getting tired when a cure was not to be,
 So he closed his arms around you & whispered come to me.
 To a special life came a sudden end,
 He died as he lived everyone's friend,
 He still lives on in the hearts & minds,
 Of the loving family he left behind.

Lovingly remembered by his wife Pearl, his sons Dennis & Brian and daughter Sharon and their families. 7B
